Written by local author and veteran Grafton High School English teacher Beth Lambert, Leave This World With No Regrets tells how two friends support each other as one navigates the final months of terminal cancer. Besides providing specific, tangible strategies for those dealing with an impending or recent loss, this book gently reminds readers that time on this earth is limited and to appreciate it and the people in their lives while they are healthy because life can and does change in an instant. Join us for a relaxed, open talk about this book and its powerful message.
